

Cinderella in Ireland

By Piper Steel

Once upon a time in a little cottage on a farm, in the country of Ireland lived a poor widower and his daughter. He remarried, but died shortly after leaving his beautiful kind daughter Cinderella in the wicked hands of the stepmother Carmen, (her name meaning evil witch,) and her two daughters, the ugly one Brude, and the pushy one Nesa, always treating her like a slave.

One day, the royal messenger came with an invitation from the prince to St. Patrick's Day feast, inviting everyone in the village. Cinderella wanted to go, the stepsisters laughed,
"A girl in rags at the feast!" laughed one.
"With all your chores!" yelled the other.
"What? All do my chores!" yelled Cinderella.
"Even catching the animals?!" said the stepmother, as she let the animals out of the pen. The stepsisters ripped Cinderella's dress to shreds, and rode the horse driven carriage to the feast.

Crushed Cinderella cried a mountain of tears.

Just then a leprechaun popped up, "Why the long face?" He asked. Then Cinderella explained the whole story to the leprechaun. He said "My name is Paddy, and I'm going to help you. The leprechaun whistled and all the animals came running."

Cinderella thanked him and asked, "What about the feast?" "Hold your horses!" Said the leprechaun "It will be done in a jiff." With the snap of his fingers and a little jig he made Cinderella a beautiful green gown, a white sweater, a good luck brooch, and a magical carriage.

The leprechaun said, "The brooch will give you good luck, and everyone else bad luck." He also said to remember, "You must be home by midnight or everything turns back." Cinderella agreed to follow the rules, and then thanked the leprechaun. Then she rode off to the feast.

When she got to the feast she saw all sorts of foods, like potatoes, ice cream, cheese, fish, beef, cabbage, butter and bread, jello, whipped cream, and apple pie. When the prince came over to the ballroom floor after the feast and asked Cinderella for a dance, Cinderella was delighted. They danced to all kinds of songs like the jig and a reel.

Before long the clock struck midnight, and Cinderella went racing out the door losing her brooch on the steps of palace. In no time she got in her carriage and rode off. When she got home all was turned back, she was no longer in a dress, but in old rags. Her one step sister bragged about all tasty food and amazing people and whined about how the other sister would not share the dessert.

Just then news spread around the village that the prince was looking for the beautiful maiden who had lost her brooch. Once the prince found the house the stepmother locked Cinderella in her room. When the prince came in seeing the clumsy step sisters toppling over, Cinderella in her room, gather all her strength and knocked the door down. Then, she gracefully walked down the stairs.

The prince could tell she was the girl
of his dreams, he knew she was the one.
He yelled, "She's the one for me!" She rushed into his arms as they rode to the palace. As for the stepfamily, they became seamstresses, (by making all of Cinderella's gowns.) Cinderella became the princess, and had every thing
she ever wanted.

The End

Brielle

Once upon a time, there was a girl named Brielle and she lived in Puerto Rico. She lived in a beach house it was small but Brielle had the biggest room. Brielle lives with her father, her mom died many years ago. One day, Brielle said to her father, "I want to play soccer."

"I would gladly put you on the team but, I can barely pay the maids" Brielle's father said.

Brielle's father had to go away for work. Brielle asked her father "Will you please bring me something back from work?"

Brielle's father said, "Okay". It was a month before Brielle's father came back she did not see him in the car. All Brielle saw was one of the maids carrying a soccer ball.

Brielle asked, "Where is my father"?

The maid said, "He did not make it but he wants me to tell you that your Aunt Victoria will be taking care of you. Brielle took the soccer ball and ran to her room and started crying. Brielle finally stopped crying she looked at the soccer ball and wrote her name on it so she would not lose it. A few days after that Victoria came with two young girls those were Victorias daughter's named Crasella, and Andrea. That day a coaches assistant quit so the Coach decided to have soccer tryouts to find a new assistant coach. The coach sent out a letter to everyone in the area about the tryouts.

Victoria got the letter and told Crasella, and Andrea Brielle was secretly listening.

Brielle asked, "Can I go?"

Victoria said, "Sorry only two people from the family can go and they are Crasella, and Andrea."

Brielle was devastated when it was the day of the soccer tryouts it was crazy in the area people were practicing for the coaching job. It was a few hours before the tryouts Brielle got so sad when she saw Crasella, and Andrea playing soccer because they were horrible. Brielle went to her favorite place under a palm tree that is where she would go if she was upset. Out of nowhere a magical person appeared. Brielle said, "Who are you?" Brielle looked at the person weirdly.

The person said, "I'm your fairy god mother but you can call me Jain".

Brielle did not believe Jain but Brielle kept that to her self.

Brielle asked, "What are you doing her?"

Jain said, "I am going to get you to the soccer tryouts all you have to do is get me a coconut, old shoes, and clothes. So Brielle got all of those things Jain asked for. Jain took her wand and taped the coconut and that turned into a fancy car then Jain taped the old clothes and shoes the clothes turned into Mia Hamm soccer clothes and the shoes turned into new cleats. Brielle put on all the stuff. Jain told Brielle that all of the stuff I gave you will go back to normal at 1:00 pm. Brielle waited for Victoria, Crasella, and Andrea to leave and then Brielle got the ball her dad gave her and left for tryouts. Brielle got there and started practicing soccer all of the girls were blown away with the coach because they thought he was so handsome. The coach came over to Brielle he look impressed. The coach called all the people over for a scrimmage when they started playing all the coach could look at was Brielle. It looked like Brielle played soccer every day. Hours went on it was a little bit before 1:00pm Brielle realized that she had to go.

The coach said, "Where are you going?"

Brielle was to busy running she did not hear the coach. The coach forgot to put Brielle's name on the list he thought I will hopefully see her tomorrow and there are more people out there. The next day, Victoria asked

"How was the tryouts?"

Crasella said "There was this one girl that the coach could not stop looking at"

Victoria looked really mad.

Andrea said "She was really good at soccer"

Crasella looked at Andrea in a weird way. Later that day there was tryouts again. When it was a few hours before the tryouts Brielle went to the palm tree Jain was waiting for Brielle. Brielle had the old shoes, clothes, and coconut Jain did her magic Brielle put on the stuff and hopped into the car Jain said come back before 1:00PM. When Brielle got there she saw the coach it looked like he was looking for someone. Then something caught his eye and that was Brielle he ran over to Brielle.

The coach said, "It's you again you are really good how would you like to be my assistant coach"

Brielle said, "Yes". A few minutes later everyone started playing a scrimmage the coach did not tell anyone about Brielle being the assistant coach. When it was 1:00 pm Brielle was not paying attention she looked at the coach and started running the coach forgot to ask her name again so he started running after her. The coach could not keep up he went back to the tryouts and saw Brielle's ball he saw her name on it but he thought that is no use. Brielle got back to the house Victoria, Crasella, and Andrea where waiting for Brielle.

Victoria said, "Where where you"?

Brielle said, "I was taking a walk in the park"

Victoria looked at Brielle in curiosity. The coach was desprit to find Brielle it was a month before the coach had a idea that is not so bad. The idea was he would go around to every house in the area and ask if the ball was there. If they were lying the coach could tell. So the next day the coach got all the people he could find to help find Brielle. It had been a week all hope was gone he still had not found Brielle he still had one more house in the neighborhood and that was Brielle's house. The coach got to the house and rang the door bell Victoria opened the door.

Victoria said, "Please wait a minute"

Victoria yelled, "Girls come here wright now"

So Erasella, Andrea, and Brielle came.

Victoria said to Brielle, "Come with me I have something for you in your room"

Brielle asked, "Where are you taking me"?

Victoria Dush Brielle into her room and closed the door and locked it the coach was waiting for Victoria to come downstairs.

The coach asked, "Is there anyone else in the house"?

Victoria said, "No"

The coach heard someone yelling Help! It sounded like it was coming from upstairs so the coach went up stairs

Victoria yelled, "Stop no one is up there"!

The coach did not believe Victoria

When the coach got upstairs he went to Brielle's room he tried to open the door but it was locked so he unlocked it and opened the door Brielle looked at the coach.

The coach said, "It's you again"

Brielle said "You have my hall"!

Brielle and the coach talked more Brielle became the coach.
A few months later Brielle got aungh money a bought her own house. So Brielle, Crasella, Victoria, Andrea, and the coach lived happily Ever After.
